Now and Then

When my mother was in Primary 4, she had a happy school life. Her favourite subject is Chinese, because she was good at it. In recess. She liked playing hide-and-seek and hopscotch with her friends. They were very happy. She didn't have any tutorial classes after school. She just studied by herself. She enjoyed her school life because she could play with her friends.

In her school, there weren't any air-conditioners. Luckily, there were some fans in her school, but it was still quite hot. There weren't any computers in her school either. Therefore, they couldn't play computers games at recess. There was a hall in her school, but it's too small, so they felt crowded.

Everybody in her class played hide-and seek and Chinese chess in recess, because they could have fun together. Nobody in her class played computer games.

I think the life in old days was better than now, but my mum said the life nowadays was better because she thinks there are many new things.
